Election battle begins for treasurer

John Lewkowicz

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

The two candidates seeking the office of treasurer in the city of Romulus have something in common...they both intend to win.

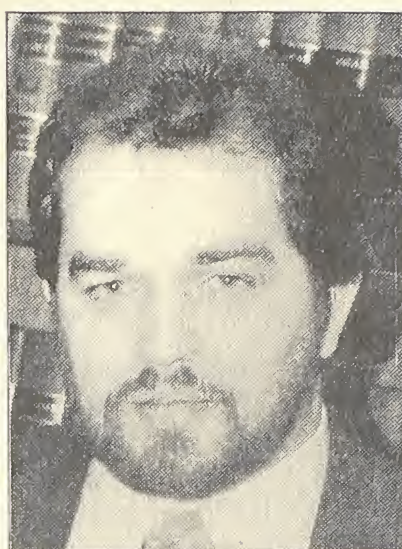

While John Lewkowicz, the incumbent, cites his record of achievements during his eight year tenure in the treasurer's office, his opponent, Jim Napiorkowski, claims it is time for a change.

Napiorkowski's resume includes 14 years at General Motors where he worked as "a typical blue collar worker, specifically, an assembly line repairman," he said. He implemented a statistical process for quality control during his employment.

He's just three classes short of an associate's degree and claims he has more than 100 college credits, most in the business, computer and finance areas of study.

For the past 11 months, Napiorkowski has worked in Mayor Beverly McAnally's office, implementing several departmental computer programs. He said he also attended several meetings of the solid waste task force in Wayne County. He has also worked with the energy performance program, the residents of the Ecorse subdivision and the building department, he said.

Napiorkowski is a 12-year resident of the city of Romulus. He married his wife, Angelina,

Officials seek aid from crash disaster

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

The city of Romulus is seeking disaster relief from the State of Michigan in the aftermath of the crash of Northwest Flight 255 Aug. 16.

According to Emergency Preparedness Director Margaret Leduc, the city accrued a cost of more than $25,000 for work provided by the city departments of police, fire and public works as well as the damage of some equipment and other expenditures.

Leduc said the state will reimburse these costs up to $20,000.

"We applied for disaster assistance from the government. A city contingency fund with $2,500 will also be applied to the total expenditures. And should the city receive any money from Northwest, the government money would be reimbursed," said Leduc who added the city does expect some compensation from Northwest.

Other communities in the local Mutual Aid pack who assisted Romulus during the crash, would also be eligible for such a grant or they would be reimbursed from the county, Leduc said. The $20,000 would be for Romulus only.

City studies local transportation area

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

There is no question about the city of Romulus wanting the business Automotive Marketing Network could provide, according to city officials. The question is does the city intend to relocate the distribution center.

The Taylor-based company has proposed the development of 73 acres bounded by Northline, Wayne and Wahrman roads into an auto auction. The new facility would create between 150 and 200 jobs in the process and has indicated substantial revenue would be generated for the city.

When company representatives presented their request for special approval of the plan to members of the Romulus Planning Commission Monday evening, several questions surfaced.

"The main thing," said Donald Treder, commission chairman, "is whether we want to relocate our distribution center. This is really the question."

According to a building department official, land use in the Wahrman Road area is designated light industrial but an auction would be considered a storage lot and require special approval.

At the present time, only one area of the city is designated as the transportation district, bounded by Middlebelt on the east, Inkster Road on the west, Ecorse Road on the north and Goddard Road on the south.

"We need to remember our history. We denied a similar project on the same premise. We've followed the city Master Plan. We are trying to keep transportation related businesses together," said Treder.

The proposed business would be different from typical auto auctions, the architect, John Wilke of Wyandotte told commission members.

The main thing is whether we want to relocate our distribution center. This is really the question.

— Donald Treder
Commission Chairman

"We intend to develop an automotive distribution center of late model used cars. This will be a closed auction where corporate cars are sold only to dealers from across the country," said Wilke.

"I can't envision any other business in that area. Our neighbors would be a cement factory on Wayne Road and a trucking firm on Northline Road. Our business would not seem inconsistent with the present businesses. In fact, we intend to build several beautiful buildings as well as landscape the area. This is going to be a beautiful site, not just a parking lot," said Joe Costanzo, project consultant.

At any time, as many as 2,000 cars would be parked on the site with a capacity for 6,000, a company representative said. Only 50 acres would "probably be developed" with the remaining acres landscaped.

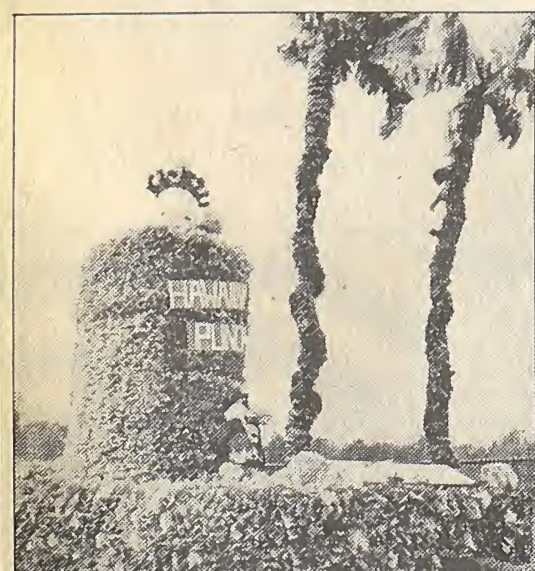

Eighty percent of all cars would be driven in where they would remain for no longer than two to three weeks.

Denny Meagher, city planning consultant, said the city has a policy of limiting major car parking facilities to certain areas of the city. He also suggested that the city insure that the land in question does not contain any wetlands, which could preclude development by state statute. He recommended the commission table the question for further review. Members of the board agreed and will discuss the project when they return next month.

It's great to be home

The crowd went wild when the rowdy Romulus Eagles pounced on the Garden City Cougars 19-17 during the Romulus High School homecoming football game Friday evening. A parade down main street kicked off the event. The junior float, below left, decorated in the Hawaiian theme was chosen by judges as the winner. Seniors won the spirit jug. Pam Breeding and a fellow senior demonstrated some of that spirit, left. Lisa Kosikowski and Brad Boyd, below, were voted King and Queen of the 1987 Homecoming. Other members of the court weren't so lucky, but nonetheless, everyone had fun. ANP photos by Phil Slaughter.

Romulus festival committee promotes the positive

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Dennis Davidson is a proud man...and according to the members of the Romulus Festival Committee, he has plenty to be proud of, as do they.

Davidson, the newly elected chairman of the Festival Committee, spoke to the mayor and members of the city council recently explaining the goals and accomplishments of the committee during the past year.

"There are at least two major festival events as well as a number of other planned activities during the year. We celebrated the 30th annual St. Al's Labor Day Festival and the fifth annual Michigan Week Festival this year," Davidson told the members of council.

For the first time in recent memory, insurance costs forced the closing of the beer tent during the Michigan Week Festival. But in spite of that, the festival grossed $13,000 above expenses. Last year, the festival was also successful and earned $9,000, Davidson explained. "The year before that, we made only $100! We've come a long way," Davidson said.

"The festival committee is currently undergoing a reorganization. We did great this year. Crowds were good. I'm sure that not having a liquor license and no beer tent affected our attendance. Insurance went up from $1,800 last year to $4,600 this year," he said.

The money earned from the festivals is used for a number of projects, Davidson said. One year, proceeds established the senior citizen park behind the recreation building. Another year, picnic tables and other amenities for the park were purchased. Festival funds are utilized for the Christmas Tree Lighting ceremony, and have paid for a portable public address system now used by the Arts Council, police reserves, Little League and Historical Society.

Mayor Beverly McAnally noted, "The Michigan Week Festival is certainly a notable event. The 10K run is a highlight and among the first of the season," she said.

The new festival committee members for 1988 include Davidson, Vice-chairperson Melvin Zilka, Secretary Mary Ann Wells, Trustee Kathy Darnell, Trustee Kristine DeTroyer and Trustee Gil White, all of whom attended the meeting.

"Our plans are to make this an even higher quality event for the citizens of Romulus," said DeTroyer.

"We're going to maintain momentum," added Davidson.

Police initiate new cadet program

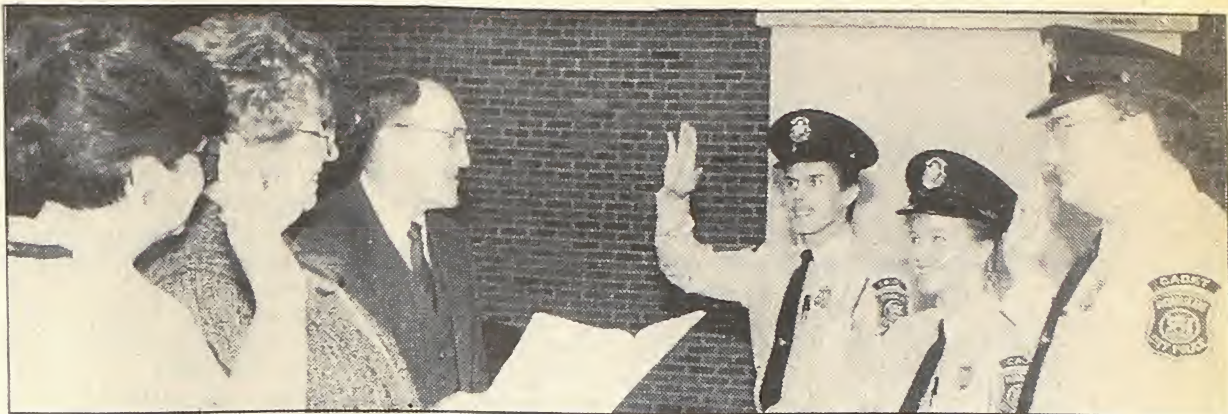

Nobody ever said the job would be easy, but the three newest "recruits" on the Romulus police force are looking forward to the challenge of their new jobs.

Two weeks ago, Lowell Smith, 21, of Romulus, Jill Wiloughby, 19, of Redford and Rodney Staffeld, 20, of Wayne were sworn by Mayor Beverly McAnally as the first three cadets in the new Romulus Police Cadet program. According to Police Chief Charles Wilmoth, a total of five cadet positions are budgeted for this fiscal year.

"We place heavy demands on our cadets," said Lt. Dave Early. "We ask that they not only work 40 hours a week, but pursue a career in criminal justice. We want them familiar with every phase of police operations," he said.

The new cadets will man the police station and "most importantly," Wilmoth said, "get police officers back on the street where they belong."

"We look at the cadet program as a farm system where we can recruit interested young people," Early added.

When the cadets reach the age of 21 and have completed an associate's degree in criminal justice, they will be sent to the police academy where they will complete their education and training.

The newly sworn cadets completed several physical agility tests, have been interviewed by a panel of local police officials, and were required to pass a written examination.

McAnally told the audience of family and friends in city hall, "You don't realize how important this program is for the city of Romulus. We need officers and you are the first of the cadet program. This is just part of our efforts to maintain quality police protection for city residents. We're proud to have you here," she said.

Willoughby said, "I'm excited. I've always wanted to be a police officer. I can't wait to see the expression on my friends' faces when they find out. I enjoy working with people."

These sentiments are shared by her fellow cadets. Smith and Staffeld said they both "like helping people." "I find police work and dealing with the public, interesting," added Staffeld.

"I think, if you help one person, you've done your job. I want to be thought of as a good person," said Smith.

16 years ago. They now have two children. He received two honorable discharges from the Army, and attended college on the G.I. Bill, he explained.

Lewkowicz and his wife, Pauline, have been married for 46 years. They have eight children and have lived in Romulus for 24 years. He is a World War II veteran.

Lewkowicz was first appointed to public office as a commissioner on the Romulus Water and Sewer Board in 1967. He was first elected to the position of treasurer in 1973 and has served four non-consecutive terms in that office. He served as councilman for two years.

Before public office, Lewkowicz was employed by the Timken division of Rockwell International as a machinist for 30 years. As a union official during that time, he negotiated the first pension plan for plant closing with Doug Frazier, then president of the United Auto Workers, he said.

Lewkowicz said his actions as treasurer provided both citizens and city coffers with $4 million in interests on investments. He credits himself with "saving the taxpayer thousands of dollars" with a lawsuit against the Wayne County Drain Commissioner when he stopped illegal assessments on local drains. Of the cities involved, Romulus was awarded $146,899.

Lewkowicz said, "There are no issues in this election. The financial situation of the city looks very good. I've done a very good job for Romulus. In fact, I've done as much or more as any elected official."

Napiorkowski, however, doesn't share such optimism about the office of treasurer. "I don't feel that enough effort is being made to shop around and obtain the best interest on city money. By using computers, I can analyze the best ways city funds can be invested. The computers need to be used to their full potential.

"We need someone in the treasurer's office full time. Old issues that are dead and gone have been brought up. I feel the recent lack of response by the treasurer regarding the wrong water and sewer interest rates only show his lack of concern. I want to know what I can do to help," Napiorkowski said.

Lewkowicz responded, "I will always work for the betterment of our city. I have established a fine relationship with personnel in my department. The treasury department is functioning very efficiently and properly," he concluded.

Regional narcotics fight nets praises

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Although the efforts of the Western Wayne County Narcotics Unit have been successful during the past year, the undercover nature of its work has kept it virtually unknown and unrecognized in the communities it serves.

The unit was organized to battle a common law enforcement problem — one that regularly crossed jurisdictional boundaries, according to Canton Township Public Safety Director John Santomauro. Four western Wayne County communities began the joint project which now includes some 15 area departments, he said.

Santomauro said "when I can give one body (to the task force) and get back 15 (officers), I call that good economics."

In a report to the members of the 17-community Conference of Western Wayne, Lt. John Schewell of the Michigan State Police said the amount of confiscations made by the unit could make it financially self-sufficient in the near future. Under state statutes, property seized in connection with narcotics raids can be sold and the proceeds used to fund anti-drug efforts.

The approximate street value of the controlled substances seized by the joint state police-local department effort totalled more than $5.8 million last year, Schewell said. The figure includes more than 42,000 grams of cocaine — the largest single substance seized, 95 pounds of marijuana, 1,543 units of LSD, and more than 1,400 units of other controlled narcotics.

Arrests included 61 for delivery of cocaine over 50 grams, 18 for delivery of cocaine over 650 grams and 24 for delivery of marijuana. One hundred and three arrests were made on 156 counts, according to the state police officer.

Schewell said narcotics work involved a lot of manpower. For example, he said, when one undercover agent is making a buy, several officers must be stationed in a back-up capacity outside the area. For this reason, Schewell said, local departments do not have the personnel available to handle undercover work to the extent that the combined state police-local department task force can.

THE ROMULUS RECREATION Department, in conjunction with the school and local P.T.O., will be co-sponsoring Halloween parties at Wick, Cory and Hayti elementary schools. The program began two years ago when the recreation commission members inquired about working on a program to make the Halloween holiday safe and enjoyable for all children. The P.T.O. members are the planners and are in need of donations and volunteer helpers. Further information is available by contacting your local school.

A UNIFORM BANK has been established for all used Scout uniforms. Donations of anything 50 years old and younger for all elementary age Scout groups, Cub and Boy Scouts as well as Pixies, Brownies, Cadets and Senior Girl Scouts will be accepted. Uniforms would then be available to children who might not be able to afford them. "All levels of Scout uniforms are needed," said Kristine DeTroyer. For information call 942-0919.

MEMBERS OF THE WAYNE-Westland Family YMCA will now be welcome at more than 1,000 YMCAs nationwide. As part of a new national YMCA program called AWAY, "Always Welcome at YMCAs," the Y will offer members a chance to stay in shape and keep in touch with the Y when they travel. A directory of AWAY Ys will be available at the YMCA front desk so members may check up on facilities in other cities before they travel.

Victory: Handicap won't sideline this athlete

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Chris King of Wayne didn't surprise anybody when he brought home a gold medal from the Can-Am Pacific Games in New York this past summer.

While this is the first time wheelchair-bound King, 29, competed in the international event conducted for American disabled athletes, his success was expected by many. King has already won numerous national awards and actually set the records still intact in seven events at the national level.

He took first place in the 50-meter backstroke swimming event and placed eighth in the shotput in the Can-Am Games. His specialty is the discus throw. He admitted, "I'm good. I've thrown farther than the world record at an unsan-tioned meet in Windsor. It was 13.55 meters. This is really my event."

A born athlete, King was not defeated by an auto accident nine years ago that placed him in a coma for three months and left him paralyzed from the neck down. Doctors marvel at his miraculous recovery, he said, although he is barely satisfied.

He grew up in Westland the youngest of three brothers and two sisters and graduated from Wayne Memorial High School in 1976.

ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS: Do people treat you any differently now that you're disabled?

KING: One thing I've found, people go out of their way to help you even when you don't need help. Sometimes people will help me with my wheelchair. It takes them 45 minutes when it would take me two. But they mean well.

But I've fallen down, torn my pants and cut my legs many times. Luckily people have been there to help. Life is very different for handicapped and disabled people. I'm real tired of people just saying we can make it. We are no less human. We just have a lot of problems that most able bodied people don't have.

ANP: What is the biggest adjustment being disabled?

KING: It is very difficult for handicapped people to meet people of the opposite sex. I was married for about two years and it was a difficult situation. We were both going to school and living with my family. Finances were just part of the problem. My being handicapped didn't bother her as much as it bothered me. She did many things for me which I soon took for granted. People need to realize that we need to do things for ourselves.

It seems to be easier for women in wheelchairs to meet men than the opposite. Even though I drive and get around, it's hard to meet women. It's a fact that more men than women are handicapped. When I went to my 10-year class reunion, five people had been killed, all of them guys. I don't say guys are dumb, but I do think they take more chances. However, I think I've learned my lesson.

ANP: What happened after the accident?

KING: On July 8, 1978, I was in a car wreck and ended up in a coma for three months. When I woke up, I was paralyzed from the neck down. I've overcome a lot since then but I'm not happy with what I've done so far. I'm still rather dependent. I had to learn to feed myself and even today, I can't make a cup of coffee without burning myself because my hands shake and I don't have the best dexterity. I know what I can't do and try not to overstep my bounds.

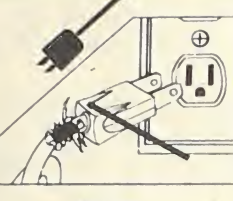

This is quite a change from my high school days when I pretty much had the world in the palm of my hands. I was captain of the swim team in my senior year. I was very outgoing and used to meet lots of people. I haven't changed much, but it's different now.

In the morning I wake up with pain. It's hard to get dressed by myself. I almost broke my arm trying to get this sweatshirt over my head.

ANP: What are you doing now?

KING: I attend Eastern Michigan University. I'm studying art. But I think I may have to give that up. I need to find something that pays enough money to make a living. I was thinking about psychology or sociology. I've learned a lot about that in the past few years.

What is a CATARACT?

Inside the eye is a lens which focuses light rays and directs them on to the retina. If that lens becomes cloudy or opaque, thus blocking or limiting those light rays from focusing properly and completely, a cataract is probably present.

The majority of all cataracts are a result of the aging process, and appear primarily in persons 55 and older. Injuries from perforating foreign bodies, electrocution or too many x-rays can also cause cataracts at any age. Metabolic diseases such as diabetes, galactosemia, and hypoparathyroidism can cause cataracts occasionally. Even children can be born with a cataract if the mother has had Rubella (German measles) or has taken certain harmful drugs.

If the cataract cloudiness turns white, this is a fast-growing cataract and it can become "ripe," or vision-threatening in a matter of weeks. This type is usually found on the back surface (posterior capsule) of the lens. On the other hand, if an examination reveals small bubbles, a yellowish darkening in the center of the lens, or clefts along the peripheral edge of the lens, it is generally a sign of a slow-growing cataract. These types could take 10 to 15 years before they significantly affect the vision.

The important fact is that cataracts do not progress uniformly. They grow for a while, then plateau off for years without any growth. Cataract growth is recognized and active when vision continues to change at a noticeable pace. That's why it is important to have periodic examinations from a qualified professional who can discover, advise and take action at the sign of a cataract.

Students are losers in strike

Remember the high school homecoming? Remember the crowning of the queen? And the homecoming football game, in which a home-team victory is all important? Students at Belleville High School this year won't remember.

No, the crowning of the homecoming queen was canceled Friday. The celebrated parade and halftime festivities? They were stamped out, as well.

Even the football game – which survived the gloom and doom cancellations – can only best be termed as a depressing memory. The Belleville Tigers lost the game, as an atypically scarce homecoming crowd watched.

And all of these losses handed to the students are the result of a teacher strike – an illegal and inequitable disruption of education. A strike that is little more than a management-union dispute that has taken high school memories from the hands of the innocent and caused a disruption of the education of students at all grade levels.

Teachers in the Van Buren school district walked off their jobs and began walking the picket lines Oct. 7, after a contract between the district and the Van Buren Education Association – the labor union representing the teachers – expired.

After the rejection of a contract offer by the VBEA last Friday, no further negotiation sessions have been scheduled.

The current strike is illegal. That statement is plain and simple.

Public employees are by law prohibited from walking off of their jobs in the form of a strike. The law more and more seems like a reasonable one, when considering that the education of our children is at stake.

We do not oppose intensive bargaining between the two sides for the betterment of all the employees. We do, however, staunchly oppose a labor dispute that makes the students the losers. Labor disputes and bargaining sessions have a time and a place. The school year and classrooms of our children are neither the time nor the place.

We urge the teachers to promptly return to their classrooms with or without a new contract, while the two sides continue bargaining. And we urge school district officials to afford the students at the school a belated homecoming celebration.

The Van Buren teachers' strike is punishing the students for an issue of which they have no control. The strike is illegal, and the side effects of it will be far-reaching.

Let's get on with the education of our children. And let's keep the labor dispute out of the classrooms.

The students do not deserve to lose the game of education.

We're celebrating

We owe you a huge amount of thanks.

"We" are the newspaper, and "you" are the readers, the same readers who have made us one of the best weekly newspapers in the state of Michigan.

You've heard us say those words before. In fact, it was this same time last year that you first heard the statement. That was because it was in October 1986 that we were chosen by the University of Michigan Press Club as the best weekly newspaper in the state in our circulation division. And we've done it again... almost.

On Friday, our newspaper took second place in the U of M Press Club Excellence in Journalism Contest, second only to a weekly newspaper in Tuscola County. According to contest judges, the out-state newspaper took the top spot ahead of us only because that newspaper had more advertising and more pages for the readers. Nevertheless, our editorial product was again rated as superb.

We are proud of our accomplishment again, and we are proud of our staff. Each week we painstakingly report, write and edit our stories and design a newspaper that we hope is pleasing to you. We are elated that our peers have again given us high marks, but our real mentors are the readers.

You see, although we are glad to be among the very best newspapers in the state, we have always felt that our readers deserve nothing but the very best. That is why in the last few weeks you have seen several changes in our coverage – an expanded sports section, more people news, a church section and new look of our pages. But we won't be stopping there.

We try harder each week to produce the highest-quality product available in community newspapers. We accept only the highest standards of English grammar and usage, journalistic conduct and fair and accurate reporting. We won't settle for anything less because we know our readers have come to expect such a superior product.

A judgment call

Right now, you are making a judgment. You are making some kind of assessment, as you read this, about this newspaper, this column, me personally, or even about the profession of journalism as a whole.

A sobering thought, that one. But each of us, every day, in even the most mundane of our daily tasks is making judgments of one type or another and we are also being judged. That might be an even more sobering thought.

Last weekend, I attended the annual meeting of the University Press Club of Michigan, an organization of which I am a past president. We were fortunate enough to have a number of speakers of some notoriety. As always, I came away with some new insights into our field of endeavor, as well as the nature of mankind.

Among our guest speakers was old friend Jim Brickley, who agreed to accept my invitation to address the member of the media. Jim prompted my thinking about judgment, as did my fellow members of the Fourth Estate.

Jim Brickley has had a long and distinguished career in public service, including service with the FBI, as a Detroit common councilman and as president of Eastern Michigan University. He served two terms as lieutenant governor in Michigan and is presently the chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Court.

Brickley is a man who judges people as a part of his life's work. He is in the unenviable position of late of being judged by those in the media who have done more than a little questioning of a one of his decisions. The case, usually referred to in ominous tones by newspaper people as the Rouch decision, involved a libel suit against the Battle Creek Inquirer by a man alleged to have raped his children's babysitter.

Rouch was, it seems, arrested but never charged in the assault, and the paper printed the information regarding his arrest. He was released later the same afternoon without being charged and another man eventually found guilty of the crime.

Brickley, in his opinion on the case, made a distinction between a public figure and a private individual, and said that newspapers are not liable if they report matters as a part of official proceedings but cannot take the word of police officers and redefined the effect of negligence in cases of this nature.

There are many more twists and turns to the case, and considering that much is still not resolved by the courts, I will not attempt to lead you through the gory details.

All of this prompted my thoughts on the judgments we make. Our society calls for professional judges to determine the outcome of those matters that cannot, or are not, predetermined as a matter of law or regulation.

The Bible tells us that, "He that is without sin should cast the first stone." It is fortunate that in this day and age stoning has been abolished. Considering the number of us who seem to feel exempt from the aforementioned Biblical advice, half the population would have been stoned to death by now.

For it seems we are accustomed to judging both the right and wrong of others, as well as the quality of their performance or work. In business, we are required to make decisions based on the performance of the work of others.

Those who fail in their assigned responsibilities are, according to labor law, to be warned, and then if all else fails, released from their employment, something that I have failed to do to a fault.

Companies and people in the world today must strive for excellence as a matter of survival in a very competitive world. In turn, we then make judgments concerning the quality of excellence, and what is inferior.

When it comes to judgments concerning the failings of man, we are indeed fortunate to be a nation of laws rather than of men. Yet, the laws in the end mean only what judges say they mean.

When a court ruling such as in the Rouch case rocks an industry, as this one did, then the judge in turn becomes judged by those who derive their livelihood from that industry.

Jim Brickley, from my experience, is a man of integrity, who rules with compassion and with conviction. In his ruling on Rouch, Brickley said he brought the libel standard in Michigan in line with that prevailing in 30 other states.

In any event, Michigan media have felt off balance ever since the ruling. For Jim to agree to appear before his critics and be judged and respond to the kind and unkind questioning of the media was a measure of the man indeed.

David Lawrence of the Detroit Free Press spoke during one of the other seminars at the meeting. He made the interesting comment that the public, when they feel they have been misquoted, tend not to say, "Ooops, that reporter made an error," but rather a personal observation about the legitimacy and parentage of the reporter. An obvious subjective judgment, although sometimes correct.

Perhaps it is all that we can ask that we attempt to deal with each other with compassion, wisdom and an open mind. Talking to each other can often clear the air and in the end create light instead of heat. Justice Brickley spoke to us Friday night in Ann Arbor, and at least some of the clouds passed.

The judiciary is a needed and necessary part of what makes our system work, poorly though it so often does. It still makes all others in the world pale in comparison. Consider that we live in one of the few countries which allows us to judge those who will judge us and gives us the opportunity to place that mantle of responsibility on shoulders we feel worthy of the responsibility and honor.

Jim Brickley standing before the newspaper publishers of Michigan to hear their questions and criticisms of his decision was a real demonstration, to me, of the best system of government in the world.

It also convinced me that he's the right man for his job.

See you next week.

Parent protests teacher strike

To The Editor:

I just wanted to make a few observations about the Van Buren teacher strike.

There is no way around the fact that this is an illegal strike. The teachers are breaking the law. In my experience people who break the laws are usually punished with jail time, fines, community service, etc. The only people being punished in this strike are the students of the Van Buren district – their education is being held hostage by the teachers.

Admittedly, the teachers do have a legitimate complaint with the Van Buren board – indeed, almost all the Van Buren employees are currently without contracts, which must be the fault of the board. But to point out the obvious, this current board has been elected, reelected and reelected yet again. The voters of this community must be overwhelmingly supportive of the school board, or they would have changed the status a long time ago.

TEACHERS: Please stop telling our children they may pick and choose which laws they want to obey. Teach them instead how great our country is and how to change the laws if we really think they're bad laws.

BOARD MEMBERS: Do they job you were elected to do – settle all outstanding contracts. This really should have been done a long time ago.

PARENTS: If you are not registered to vote, don't complain when the roof caves in on you. If you are registered to vote (only about 300 people voted in the last school board election – where was everyone?) then go to the polls – informed – and make your statement. Don't show up at a board meeting in a crisis and ask what happened.

Wife's shooting symbol of society

To The Editor:

I read with horror the account of the shooting of a woman by her husband while four police officers looked on. This woman came to them for protection, and she got none.

And all they can say is that it was lucky they didn't get shot. Why didn't they have her out of reach? She warned them he had threatened her life. Why didn't they shoot him? He was trying to kill them all. Now, he will be out in seven years to hunt her down and kill her. By the way, nothing was even mentioned of the woman's condition in the hospital.

Strange, isn't it, how a man can leave his wife, with tears and recriminations only from her, perhaps, but when a certain type of man is left by his wife, his anger is so great that he wants to kill her.

Think what her life must have been like with this monster. Nothing but fear. And society has always turned its head away.

To children, the month of October usually signifies one thing - Halloween. Ghosts, goblins, witches and monsters suddenly crawl out of hiding and can be seen almost everywhere, including the neighborhood stores, where hideous-looking masks are out on shelves for the trick-or-treaters.

But, while Halloween is always exciting for kids, it can be just as fun for "big people" too. And it's those "big people" who can be found this week donning their spookiest costumes and manning one of several haunted houses in the area. A list of haunted houses and related parties reported to the newspaper this year follows.

Canton

• The Canton Jaycees are sponsoring a haunted dwelling, but this time it's a haunted warehouse.

Located behind the New Bright Co. on Ford Road, just west of I-275, the haunted warehouse will also open until Oct. 31.

HAPPY HAUNTING

Ghosts, goblins loom in neighborhood

Many of the eerie creatures from old horror movies will make their presence known to all who dare to go inside the frightfully-decorated grounds.

Admission is $2.50 per person, and group rates are available by calling 397-2159.

Inkster

• A Halloween party is being planned for little goblins in grades six and younger by the Inkster Parks and Recreation Department and the Inkster Public Library. The event is set to take place from 6 to 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 31 and will be at the Inkster Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road.

More information may be obtained about the party by calling 728-7530. • Friends of the Inkster Recreation Department sponsor a pre-Halloween costume cabaret from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. Friday, Oct. 30. The event will be at the Inkster Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road, Inkster.

Featured will be dancing, refreshments and prizes. Cost is $6 in advance or $7 at the door. For more information, call 728-7530.

Plymouth

• The Western Wayne County Therapeutic Recreation Department is hosting a Halloween party from 7 until 9 p.m. Friday, Oct. 23, at the Plymouth Cultural Center, located at 525 Farmer Road. People of all ages are invited to wear their costumes and attend the party. Cost is $1.

Saturday, Oct. 24. The event will be staged at St. Robert Bellarmine Church, located at West Chicago and Inkster roads.

Cost is $6, which includes beer, setups and snacks. Costumes are optional but encouraged. Prizes will be awarded for the best costume.

Redford

• Bethany West, a support group for the divorced and separated, will host the annual Halloween dance at 9 p.m. For more information, call 534-8503.

Wayne

• The 4-H Haunted Barn will be open from 6 to 10 p.m. Oct. 23, 24, 25 and 30. Promoters say the smell of candy, apples, cider and fresh popcorn will lure people to the haunted site.

Freddie Kreuger will be on hand to agitate all when they enter the barn, located at the county Extension center, 5454 Venoy Road, at Newburgh, Wayne. Monsters and goblins will move quietly for anyone daring to visit. Cost is $1.50 per person.

• The Wayne County 4-H Youth Program sponsors a Halloween party for youngsters Saturday, Oct. 31. Two sessions will accommodate two different age groups.

First session is from 1:30 to 3 p.m. for those ages 4 to 7. Second session is from 3:30 to 5 p.m. for those ages 8 to 11.

The parties will be staged at the county Extension office, 5454 Venoy Road, at Van Born, Wayne. Cost is $2 per child. Call 721-6576 to register.

Westland

• The Westland Jaycees Haunted House is located on Cherry Hill Road, just west of Venoy, this year.

Freddy Kreuger, the famed rogue from Nightmare on Elm Street movies, will also be on hand to terrorize visitors in their wakened states.

The eight-room house will be open from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and from 7 until 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Admission is $2.

• The annual Wayne/Westland Family YMCA Haunted House is now open. Visitors can tour the house every day from 7:30 p.m. until midnight. The house is located on 827 S. Wayne Road, between Cherry Hill and Avondale roads.

• The Wayne-Westland Family YMCA, 827 S. Wayne Road, Westland, also is the site of a ghostly overnight Friday, Oct. 23 for children in grades 1 to 6.

Kids should arrive at the YMCA at 8 p.m. Friday and be picked up at 8 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 24. Featured will be games, apple bobbing, swimming and a visit to the YMCA haunted house.

Children should bring a sleeping bag, bathing suit and towel. Cost is $10 for members, $12 for non-members. Call 721-7044.

Ypsilanti

• Feeling a bit more gutsy? Feel like haunted houses are no longer the thrill they were when you were a kid? Say no more.

On Carpenter Road in Ypsilanti, just west of Ann Arbor, sits a haunted house that is known throughout the state for being creative and able to frighten even the most stalwart out of their wits.

The house, located at Wiard's Orchards, is probably one of the top two haunted houses in the state of Michigan, according to Bryan Hanson, assistant store manager at Wiard's.

"Ours is one haunted house that people don't forget. It's sc real and so detailed... it's a real terror."

Wiard's haunted house has been open every weekend from 7 to 10 p.m. since the beginning of September. Until Halloween, people can visit the house from 7 until 10 p.m. on weekdays and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. on weekends.

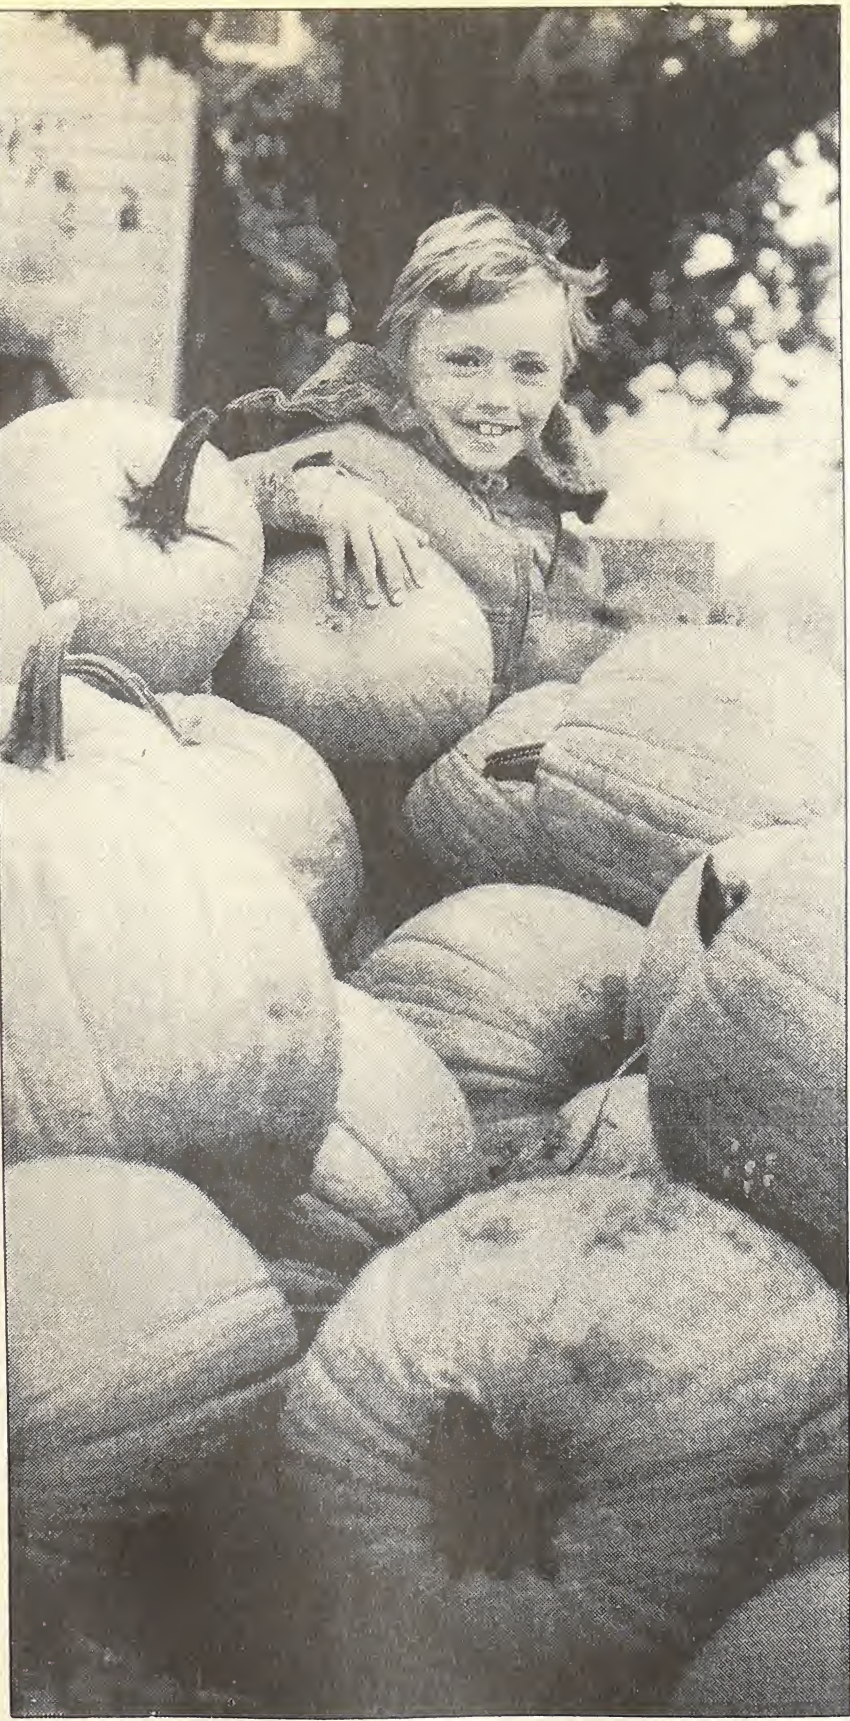

Alternatives . . .

But for those who don't thrill to the sound of screams, especially their own, emanating from a haunted house, there are plenty of other ways to celebrate the winter solstice.

• Dress-up. Halloween parties are always fun. For added interest, make it a masquerade party, where not only is everyone dressed up, but they are also wearing masks, so that no one can tell who's who until the masks come off.

• If parties are not the route to excitement, then here's something that can be done with very little effort.

Turn off all the lights, make some popcorn and other refreshments and rent a few horror flicks to play on the VCR.

Perfect pumpkins

Suburban LIVING Urban

My mother-in-law is . . .

- ☒ Helpful and caring
- ☒ Fair-minded
- ☒ Doesn't interfere
- ☒ Understanding
- ☒ Just like Mom

But my mother-in-law is . . .

- ☒ Meddling
- ☒ Opinionated
- ☒ Bossy and pushy
- ☒ Cranky and unreasonable
- ☒ Biased and unfair

Balancing act

Mothers-in-law. We either love them. Or we hate them. And our reasons for doing so are many times justified and with cause.

Society dreads mothers-in-law. But Hallmark Card Co. officials must love them because they have named a special day after them — which happens to be Sunday.

But what do we really think of those in-laws? What should we think? This week in Suburban Living we explore the answers to those questions and use your viewpoints to do so.

MOTHERS-IN-LAW

Mothers by marriage deserve respect

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

The stereotype of the meddling mother-in-law may be as untrue as the myth of the wicked stepmother, according to psychotherapist Eugene Hadwiger.

Whether the perception is true or false, however, society tends to view mothers-in-law in a negative manner. This, in turn, may influence some mothers-in-law to live up to that negative image, according to the Farmington Hills therapist.

One family counselor suggested that six people enter a marriage — the couple, his parents and her parents. The relationship between the marriage partners, he suggested, is heavily influenced by the relationship that each one has had with his or her parents.

Hadwiger said that often the problems experienced with an in-law will reflect the same type of problem that the person has experienced with their own parent of the same sex. In other words, if a man enters a marriage with "baggage" from a conflict with his mother, he probably will carry those same problems to his relationship with his mother-in-law. In the same way, a woman who has unresolved problems with her

"The reason that some married people remain overly attached to a parent are that they do not feel grown up, they believe that they cannot handle their lives or that the attraction to their parent is so great that they can't let go."

— Eugene Hadwiger

own mother, will probably "carry that baggage" into her relationship with her new mother-in-law.

Hadwiger acknowledged that newlywed couples have many adjustments to make in their own relationships, and problems with in-laws adds extra stress and tension to their efforts. Because of the extra burden that can be placed on the newlyweds, he said, it is important that they resolve these problems either by talking them over with their in-laws or by seeking professional counseling.

The therapist noted that some young people are overly attached or overly connected to their parents. While it is important to keep in contact with their parents, he said, it is not healthy if one of the partners feels that he or she must consult with a parent every day and on every issue.

"The reasons that some married people remain overly attached to a parent are that they do not feel grown up, they believe that they cannot handle their lives or that the attraction to their parent is so great that they can't let go," Hadwiger said. "Obviously, it will be a problem if one of the marriage partners can't exist without consulting a parent about every matter."

To resolve family problems, Hadwiger said, communication is the key. Sometimes, just sitting down and talking about the problem will clear the air.

"However, for some families the only way they know how to communicate is through fighting. It is the only way they know how to show that they care," Hadwiger said. "The problem with this is that they don't fight fair — they bring in other issues, past problems and other things that have nothing to do with the current situation."

Hadwiger said a family counselor can help to identify problem areas and offer aid in solving the relationship issues. However, he added, "In my experience, I find a great majority of in-laws get along."

Show her your praises with little gifts

By JANICE FRITZ
ANP Staff Writer

What kind of gift is appropriate for that favorite — or not-so-favorite — mother-in-law? Especially when mothers-in-law day is as near as Sunday.

Susan Zuckerman, owner of Leo's Gifts in Wayne, seems to think she has a few ideas.

"I don't think it's a holiday that is very well known. Maybe 2 or 3 percent of our customers will come in to buy a gift. I think that is because mothers-in-law are generally remembered on mothers' day. That's when they usually get their recognition," Zuckerman said.

However, those that do want to make their mother-in-law feel special need not go very far to do it, she continued.

"People don't need to spend hundreds of dollars to make their mother-in-law happy. Most people don't have those stereotypical 'bad' relationships with their in-laws like everyone always thinks," Zuckerman explained. "I know a lot of people who love their mothers-in-law dearly. And mothers-in-law are moms, too. So, like mom, she'll probably like anything that someone gives her as a gift."

Zuckerman said the small, pick-me-up gifts are probably the best things to give that special mother-in-law.

"Just something small, to show that you thought of her, is nice. Cards, small jewelry boxes, mugs, crystal figurines, those kinds of gifts are great."

Despite the low number of people who actually observe mothers-in-law day, Zuckerman said that women more often than men do the remembering.

"Maybe it's because they know they'll be mothers-in-law someday," she explained with a chuckle.

And if the small gift item just won't do as a gift, flowers are always the appropriate standby, according to Sherry Hissong, owner of Shirley Dean's Flowers in Inkster.

"Buy your mother-in-law anything from roses to a bouquet to an indoor plant if you want to show her she's special.

Flowers and plants make women feel special," Hissong said.

Hissong added that mothers-in-law day is one holiday that is not as well advertised as many other holidays. Therefore, she said, the success of sales for the holiday depend on the amount of advertising the corporations have put into it.

Nonetheless, the floral shop owner agreed that mothers-in-law deserve to be recognized every day of the year.

"This is good for mothers-in-law, but I think the true meaning isn't so much in what we buy for them so much as how we remember them. A phone call or a visit can mean as much to them as any gift we can buy them," said Hissong.

Sandra Mathis, collectible manager of Leo's Jewelry, demonstrates that there are a lot of "little" things that can be given to those special mothers-in-law. ANP photo by Michael Cardew/staff photographer

Your views on mothers-in-law

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

According to our readers, the stereotype of the meddling mother-in-law is more fiction than fact. We received many letters from area residents praising their mothers-in-law and asking that their names be placed on our "honor roll." Among those letters of praise there was not a single negative response - not even an unsigned card or an anonymous phone call.

The women entered on the honor roll of mothers-in-law by the spouses of their sons and daughters were described as "the nicest," "lovable" and "helpful."

Libby Erickson of Westland said, "I never really think of 'ma' as a mother-in-law. She's my mom, too. She welcomed me with open arms as her son's new bride of a month and a half. That was our first time to even see each other and that was over 25 years ago.

"If I want to talk, she listens. If I need anything and if she can, she will help. She's like a silent partner in a marriage. She's just the perfect blend of a dear, loving person," Libby Erickson wrote. "We've been blessed with four children and they've got a gem of a grandma. This special person is Grace Erickson of Westland."

Cathy Horste of Belleville nominated her ex-mother-in-law, Florence Louise Horste, who she "wouldn't trade for any other mother-in-law I know." Known by the family as Pooh (as in Winnie the Pooh), she "still loves us, cares for us, worries about us, sends us coupons, send over scraps for the cats, sends money to do fun stuff, clips newspaper articles about us and of interest to us and calls us regularly" even though Cathy Horste and her son are divorced.

Valerie Gagnon of Romulus, remembered that her mother-in-law, Patricia Gagnon, also of Romulus, put her at ease right away "by accepting me for who I was - her daughter-in-law."

"Over the years," Valerie Gagnon said, "she's accepted a lot, understood me even when I didn't understand why I did what I did and loved me when I didn't feel loveable."

The Gagnons play cards, go to bingo, enjoy finding new places to eat and "most of all we love and respect one another."

Brenda Enriquez of Westland nominated her mother-in-law, Mary Enriquez Rubio, for the honor roll because "she never meddles and only gives advice when it's asked for."

In addition, Brenda Enriquez said, "I just want to say thanks mom for my terrific husband, Hugo."

Dan Szuba of Westland placed his mother-in-law, Loretta Storek of Westland, on the honor roll because "she's loveable, helpful and has never had a bad word to say about anything."

Valerie Gagnon of Romulus hugs her mother-in-law, Patricia Gagnon, also of Romulus. "She's real special," Valerie said.

THE WAYNE CHURCH of Christ, 3789 Venoy (one block south of Michigan Ave.), is sponsoring a color film series about the problems faced in everyday living. The five-week film series features the humor and practical advice of Dr. Paul Faulkner. The final film in the series, "Making Things Right," is set for 6 to 7 p.m. There is no charge for viewing the films. Further information is available by calling 721-1057.

It's the beef

The first roast beef dinner of the season hosted by members of the Community United Methodist Church in Romulus was a success, as usual, when more than 200 tasty meals were served earlier this month. Many residents and church members returned for the occasion. Arthur Dittmar (left) demonstrates his ability with the electric knife. Other kitchen help included Ken Krueger (above left), Jean Savage, Vi Wiloughby and Charles Dittmar. Savage, co-chairman, said 145 pounds of meat are cooked for the event. Bea and Thelbert Thompson organized the baking of 47 pies. That's more than 282 pieces. ANP photo by Bob Denys

Area honors local business women

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Communities throughout western Wayne County, as well as those across the nation, have proclaimed the third week of October as National Business Women's Week.

In connection with the week honoring American working women, local organizations have honored a member with a Woman of Achievement award. These women are selected for their work in promoting a positive image for the BPW and for their help to other women.

The Canton BPW selected Teresa Solak, first vice president of First of America-

Wayne Bank; the Belleville BPW named Connie Stoelton, assistant to a University of Michigan director, and the Plymouth BPW selected Daisy Proctor, a day care provider, for the awards. Marlene Danol, a Ford Motor Co. executive, is the Northville Woman of Achievement and Mabelle Shon, retired secretary to the Schoolcraft College dean, is the Garden City honoree.

Leaders of the BPW District Nine include Kay Baldrice of Canton, president; Patti Clapper of Canton, first vice president, and Lauri Uhl, second vice president. Wayne president is Kathy Beeny. Public relations chairman is Maria Holmes of Canton, special program chairman is Linda Sivil of Garden City, assistant director is Teresa Solak of Westland, treasurer is Helen Tomlin of Wayne and parliamentarian is Maybelle Shon of Westland.

In 1928 a week was set aside to honor working women. The theme of the first observance was "Better Business Women for a Better World."

German cook celebrates Oktoberfest with great taste

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

No self-respecting German ever needed a good reason to eat or to drink. But Ingrid Cretal of Westland has one very good reason, nevertheless.

Oktoberfest. And the fine food that goes along with it.

Born in Hamburg, Germany, during World War II, Cretal is the oldest of three children. Her father was a tailor. And her mother? A master of fine foods, a great teacher of cuisine and a sausage maker for 20 years in the Eastern Market area of Detroit.

Cretal and her family immigrated to the United States when she was 14. Her memories of the war are both vivid and unpleasant, as she recalls watching a grenade explode in the hands of a neighborhood child.

"Most people don't like to remember those things. I think that's one reason German people like to get together and celebrate so often," Cretal said.

Today, Cretal, 46, maintains a positive outlook on life. Her childhood family settled on the east side of Detroit, near Harper and Gratiot Avenue, in a mixed neighborhood of Italians and Germans.

Cretal's first job was at Hudson's, behind the food counter. After two years, she joined the staff of Alexander Horning Company, a German sausage manufacturer, as a cashier and import clerk.

She and her husband, Gene, an American of French and Indian descent, will celebrate 25 years of marriage next year. The two have three children and have lived in Westland for 18 years.

"I like to stick with the family favorites. German people are not big on spices. They lean a bit toward the French with lots of tangy sauces. And they marinate many foods," she explained.

"German cooking takes a long time. You can't just throw it together in the oven and forget about it. Germany is smaller than all the area of Michigan. But in each area, people have a different recipe for sauerkraut," she continued. "Germans are usually healthy people. They like food that sticks to the ribs. They eat lots of potatoes and noodles."

What follows are a few of Cretal's favorite German recipes. Or, as her husband would call them, "the best of the wurst."

POOR MAN'S MEAL

1 8-ounce bag egg noodles
1 stick margarine
2 pounds green Granny apples
Cinnamon
Sugar

Cook noodles until almost tender. Drain water. Place in baking dish and dot with cut-up margarine. Core, peel and slice apples and place over noodles. Sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar. Bake in preheated oven at 350 degrees until apples are done or smell good.

SAUERKRAUT

1 1/2 pounds sauerkraut
1 small onion

2 tablespoons lard or goose grease
1/2 tablespoons flour
1 apple, halved
1/2 glass white wine
1 pound sugar

Do not wash sauerkraut. Melt lard or goose grease in skillet. Saute diced onion and add loose sauerkraut. Add apple halves.

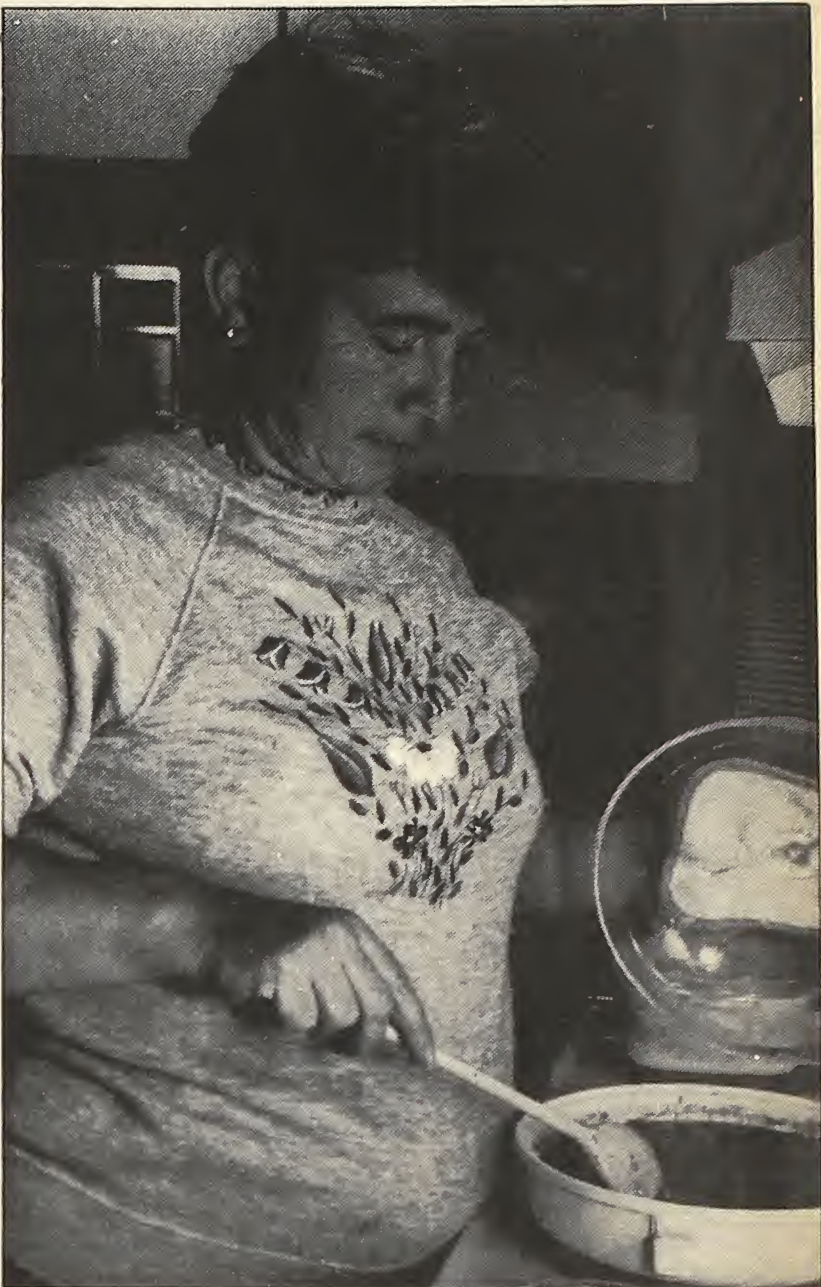

Cover and slowly cook over medium heat until sauerkraut is tender. One-half hour before serving, add flour and water mixture. Add wine and sugar and continue cooking for two hours. Bacon or some kind of smoked pork can be added for additional flavor.

Serve with boiled potatoes and pork chops, preferably the smoked ones, called Kassler Rippchen. Serves four.

GERMAN POTATO SALAD

5 pounds potatoes
3 medium onions
1/2 pound bacon
1 cup vinegar
1 cup water
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoon flour
Salt and pepper

Boil potatoes with skins. Mix diced onions, vinegar, water, sugar, salt and pepper in large bowl. Fry sliced bacon in 1/4 pieces until crisp. Add flour to bacon with grease and pour over onion mixture. Remove skins from potatoes and slice. Add to onion mixture and stir. Let sit at room temperature. Serve with knackwurst or weiss wurst, (veal sausage).

Cookies can be the key to mental health and well being

When all else fails, bake cookies.

Trust me, there is nothing in the world more therapeutic, satisfying and creative as a wonderful batch of cookies. Psychologists may help others with their depression, anxiety and nervousness--but personally, I advise cookies. I can think of nothing as good for the old self confidence as a perfectly executed batch of chocolate chip cookies just out of the oven. And, then when one gets more adventurous, well...what can I say?

Here are two excellent recipes that are guaranteed to bring your family running to the kitchen, compliments galore and a real feeling of self worth.

ZUCCHINI COOKIES
(These I make just to taunt my husband who hates zucchini with a passion. They are moist and spicy with a tart lemon frosting and really yummyie).
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup margarine or butter, softened
2 eggs
2 1/2 cups all purpose flour
1 1/2 cups zucchini, shredded (about one medium)
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Mix sugars, margarine and eggs. Stir in remaining ingredients.

just desserts

sue willett

Drop dough by rounded teaspoonfuls about 2 inches apart onto greased cookie sheet. Bake until almost no indentation remains when touched lightly with finger, about 8 to 10 minutes. Cool. Frost with lemon frosting.

LEMON FROSTING

3 cups powdered sugar
1/4 cup margarine or butter, softened
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon water

Mix powdered sugar, margarine and lemon peel. Beat in lemon juice and water. If necessary, stir in additional water, 1 teaspoon at a time, until of spreading consistency.

(These are moist cookies that keep well in a tightly covered container.)

1 cup packed brown sugar
1/4 cup margarine or butter, softened
1/4 cup shortening
1/4 cup cold coffee
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 3/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups raisins
3/4 cup chopped nuts

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Mix brown sugar, margarine, shortening, coffee, egg, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stir in remaining ingredients. Drop dough by rounded teaspoonfuls about 2 inches apart onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake until almost no indentation remains when touched, 8 to 10 minutes. Immediately remove from cookie sheet. Makes about four dozen cookies.

(These are really good with a little confectioners' sugar glaze, made of powdered sugar mixed with just enough milk to make a spreading consistency.)

The Michigan Lottery's twice-weekly Super Lotto game offers players prizes for matching four, five or all six of the numbers drawn from a field of 44. The following summary provides answers to the most frequently asked questions about those prizes.

Q: How is the Jackpot amount determined for each Super Lotto game drawing?
A: The Super Lotto game's minimum Jackpot has been at least $1.5 million for each drawing. But, Super Lotto is a pari-mutuel game, so Jackpots and other prizes vary.

Q: What is a pari-mutuel game?
A: This means that the prize pool is based on ticket sales--how much money is wagered for a particular drawing. So, sales can push the Jackpot higher than the $1.5 million guarantee. And, the number of winners of second and third prize shares varies from drawing to drawing, as does the size of their prizes.

Q: What percentage of sales goes to the Jackpot amount?
A: Twenty-five percent of sales is allotted for the Jackpot prize, to be shared by the person or persons matching all six of the winning numbers drawn.

Q: How about for matching five numbers?
A: Players who match five of the winning numbers share eight percent of the amount wagered. Prizes have ranged from $867 to $4,465 but generally average about $2,500.

Q: And for matching four numbers?
A: Thirteen percent of the prize pool is shared by the Third prize share winners. Prizes have ranged from $47 to $144, again, depending on the amount wagered and number of players who share the third prize pool. Prizes average about $90.

Q: What happens to the remainder of the money?
A: The Lottery is charged with raising funds to help Michigan's school children. In the 1985-86 fiscal year, for example, the Lottery provided more than $415 million for education, the equivalent of $130 per Michigan household. The remainder is needed for costs of operating the Michigan Lottery and for commissions to retailers selling Super Lotto tickets.

Q: Can you tell me about some Super Lotto prize records?
A: The largest Jackpot to date, $15.2 million, was shared by three winners in the July 13, 1985 drawing. The largest individual prize, $13 million, was won by St. Joseph's Clifford Nutto in the August 15, 1987 drawing.

For submitting a question which led to this column, Vivian Honkala of Crystal Falls will receive 50 free tickets for the Lottery's current instant game, "Greenbacks."

If you have a Lottery question not yet covered in these monthly columns, send it to: "Winners Circle," Michigan Lottery, P.O. Box 38077, Lansing, MI 48909.

Robichaud in 'must' game with nemesis, Inkster

'Twas sad evening for Tigers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The teachers' strike in the Van Buren School District took the spirit out of homecoming.

And the lack of school support apparently helped in Belleville's demise at the hands of Wyandotte Friday night. Belleville blew a 7-0 first quarter lead and lost a 15-7 decision to the Bruins in a Wolverine 'A' Conference football game.

Because of the strike, school officials called off the homecoming program and the crowning of the homecoming queen.

"There wasn't much of a crowd at the game," said Belleville Coach Dave McCarney. "In fact, usually the kids form a tunnel for us to run out to the field. Friday, there was only a handful of students there. There was no tunnel. The situation isn't a pleasant one."

Teachers walked out of classrooms 10 days ago when negotiations between the school district and the teachers' union broke down. The dispute is over wages and other benefits.

In the meantime, the Tigers missed an excellent opportunity to win their second conference game of the season. Belleville grabbed the lead early in the first quarter when Kevin Hunter scored on a 90-yard punt return, the first Bruins' punt of the game.

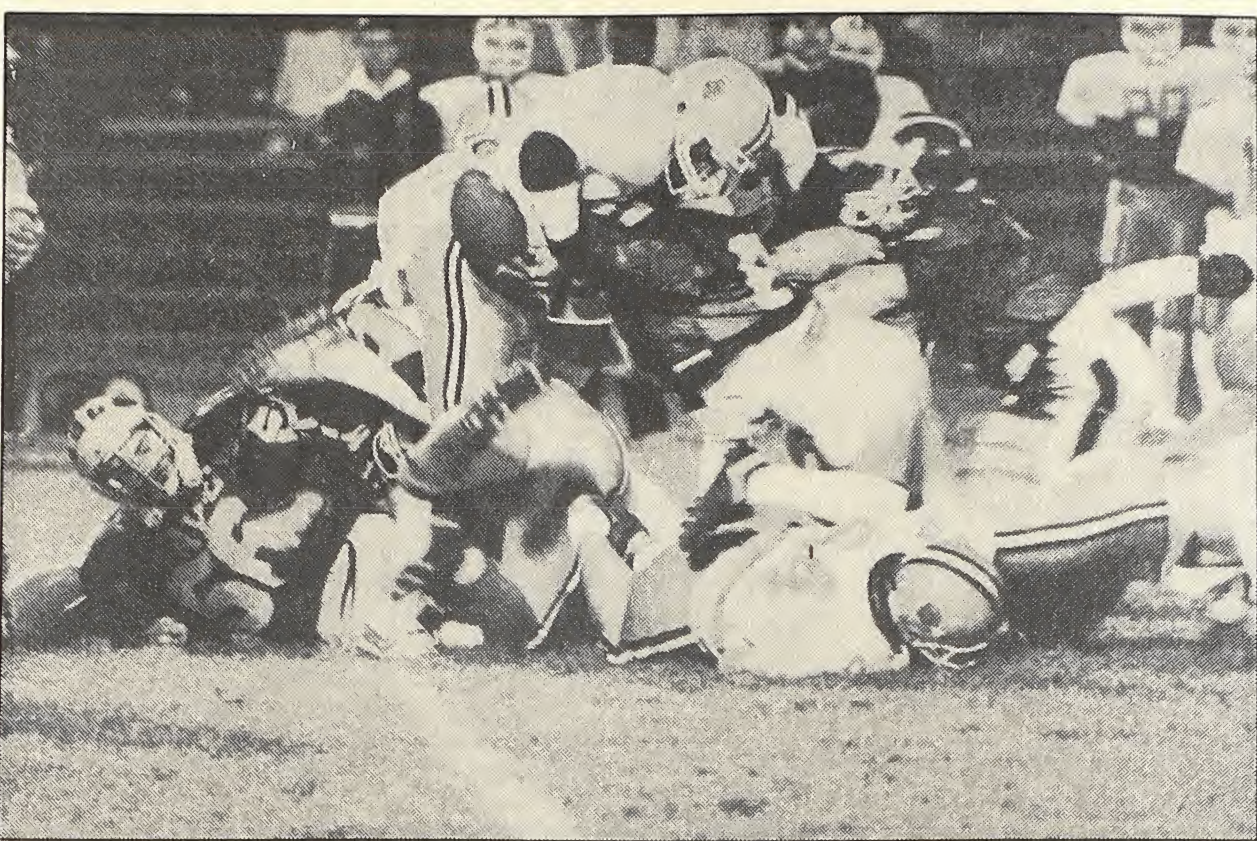

The Tigers also saw another excellent scoring opportunity wiped out when quarterback Eric Schupert managed to put together a sustained drive that was capped by a fumble at the Wyandotte 20.

"We won the first half, but we displayed little if any intensity in the second," McCarney said. "We paid for two crucial mistakes in the second half that cost us the game."

The Bruins capitalized on a pass interception and a fumble to score the tying and go-ahead touchdowns.

J.P. Fallon paced the Belleville ballcarriers as he rushed for 60 yards on 14 carries. Schupert connected on all three of his passes for 20 yards while the Tigers also received a stellar performance out of Ron Schellenberger who counted two solo and three assisted tackles. He also managed to floor Wyandotte punters on two separate occasions.

Now Belleville has to contend with a Lincoln Park team that had its title hopes dashed by Fordson 14-7 last week.

Meeting a wall of defenders, Belleville's J. P. Fallon (photo above) doesn't gain an inch on this rush. The Tigers blew a 7-0 first quarter lead Friday night and dropped a 15-7 decision to Wyandotte before what coaches called a dismal homecoming crowd. In the photo below, Romulus sophomore running back Ali Campbell shifts into fast speed and bolts away for Garden City defenders. Before he finished for the evening Campbell amassed 200 yards in 25 attempts and contributed all three touchdowns in the Eagles' nailbiting 19-17 victory over the Cougars. While Belleville travels to Lincoln Park Friday night, Romulus will await Willow Run, a surprise upset winner over the previously undefeated Suburban Athletic Conference leaders, Robichaud, for their next test. A happy homecoming Romulus rolls past Garden City

ANP Staff Writer

Romulus presented homecoming fans Friday night with a thrilling 19-17 victory over non-conference adversary, Garden City.

"Our kids played an impressive game," said Coach Norb Glover. "And they kept their composure when they could have easily folded."

The victory snapped a two-game Romulus losing streak and provided the Eagles with a 2-5 overall record. They will be home again this Friday night when they host Willow Run, a team that is coming off of an upset victory over Dearborn Heights Robichaud. Robichaud was on the verge of sewing up the Suburban Athletic Conference title before the Flyers shot them down.

Glover saw the Willow Run-Robichaud game and came away impressed with the Flyers.

Any time you can be down by two TDs and come back and win shows that there is class on the team - and that's what Willow Run did against Robichaud. When you look at their (Willow Run's) record you may not be impressed (2-5) but, don't forget, that's our record as well.

"At this point of season we are not going to take anyone lightly, especially Willow Run."

Glover also announced that the final game of the season against Belleville has been switched from Friday night to Saturday at 1 p.m. The game will be contested at Belleville High School.

In one of his most impressive performances of the season Ali Campbell came up with all three of Romulus's touchdowns. The 6-0, 205-pound sophomore scored on runs of 13, 47 and 12 yards and finished with 200 yards rushing in 25 carries.

Garden City took a 3-0 first quarter lead before Campbell and quarterback David Blandford went to work. Blandford orchestrated a 70-yard sustained drive that Campbell culminated with a 13-yard TD early in the second frame. Blandford booted the extra point.

Bulldogs blow 2 TD lead lose to Willow Run, 22-19

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

What a difference one week makes.

Last week Robichaud was sitting on top of the Suburban Athletic Conference football world, enjoying a 4-0 record.

Enter Willow Run, a team that got off to a disastrous start. The Flyers lost to Western Lakes Conference representative, Plymouth Canton, 63-12, in their 1987 opener and didn't show much until Saturday.

On Saturday, before their homecoming crowd, Willow Run erupted for three touchdowns in the third period and shot Coach Bob Youch's Bulldogs down 22-19. It was Robichaud's first SAC setback.

Now, instead of playing for all of the conference title when Inkster comes to town on Friday, Yauck and his gridders are faced with a "do-or-die" situation. They must win or settle for a second place finish. A victory, moreover, gives them only half a title; a split with River Rouge, a team Robichaud shut out earlier in the campaign, 12-0.

"And Inkster has never been easy to stop," Yauck noted. "We all know there is a natural rivalry between our two teams, so we can't afford a letdown."

One consolation is that Robichaud will be playing before a homecoming crowd.

But, that may be only a spiritual help - they still have to find a way to stop Inkster tailback, Lorenzo Terrell, who has been the mainstay of the Viking offense.

Inkster Coach Alonzo Glaze also feels that "you can throw out all of the records when these two teams meet."

"It's like the Michigan-MSU, the Army-Navy games," Glaze continued. "Our kids give it everything when they play Robichaud, and visa versa."

(See ROBICHAUD, page 7-C)

2 straight for Vikings

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The pieces are beginning to fall into place for Coach Alonzo Glaze and the Inkster Vikings.

And it couldn't have happened at a better time.

Before a well-attended homecoming crowd Friday afternoon, Inkster stopped a highly-touted Oak Park, 14-8, for their second consecutive Suburban Athletic Conference victory. Last week the Vikings ended a four-game losing streak by beating Ecorse, 24-6.

The victory provides the Vikings with the momentum for Friday afternoon's crucial game with natural rival, Robichaud. An Inkster victory would also assure Glaze with a winning SAC record.

Glaze, after blasting his Vikings two weeks ago for an inept performance against Highland Park, a game they lost 17-2, has seen a turnaround.

"We are now getting a solid team effort," he said. "The defense is standing on its own and the offense is blocking. I believe we are ready for Robichaud."

The Vikings were definitely ready for Oak Park.

With Lorenzo Terrell scoring both Inkster touchdowns on runs of 47 and three yards, Inkster remained in command

'The defense is standing on its own, and the offense is blocking. Yes, I believe we're ready for Robichaud.'

— Alonzo Glaze

from the first to the final whistle. The visitors averted a shut-out in the closing two minutes of the game when they managed to score on a short pass.

Terrell's first touchdown came midway in the first quarter as the offensive line, led by Antonio Powell, James Thomas and Charles Bey opened a hole big enough for a tank to plow through. The Vikings elected to go for the two-point conversion and Terrell was stopped just short of the goal line.

Oak Park managed to shut down the Viking ballcarriers for the next two quarters, but in the fourth Terrell struck again as quarterback Earl Casey orchestrated a midfield drive by mixing passing with the running of Duane Young and William Jones. At the end of the line he handed off to Terrell who fired through the Parker

In the air and on the ground Belleville defenders have been called upon time and time again to stop opponents. Last week the Tigers almost put Wyandotte away, but dropped a 15-7 decision. They play Lincoln Park next. ANP photo by Phil Slaughter/special photographer

Lorenzo Terrell
Age: 18
School: Inkster
Sport/position: Football/tailback
Achievement: Terrell had an impressive performance against Oak Park. Terrell scored two touchdowns to lead the Inkster Vikings to an upset, 14-8 victory, their second straight in the Suburban Athletic Conference. Terrell is the man that Robichaud must stop this week if the Bulldogs want to capture the SAC title.

Belleville sweeps Southgate Anderson, 127-23

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Southgate Anderson, the newest member of the Wolverine 'A' Conference girls' swim league, found out the hard way why Belleville has dominated the conference.

Despite juggling his lineup in order for all of his swimmers to get an opportunity to swim, Coach Greg Cooper sat back and watched his Tigers sweep all 11 events en route to a 127-23 victory over their rivals.

The victory boosted Belleville's conference record to 3-1 and 4-3 overall. They met archrival, Ypsilanti, last night in a meet that Cooper said "is an excellent tuneup for Thursday's confrontation with Wayne Memorial."

Wayne has always been a serious obstacle in Belleville's path. As Cooper described the pending battle: "It will be a knock-down, drag-out fight."

"We can expect a knock-down, drag-out fight when we meet Wayne Memorial."

— Greg Cooper

With one loss attached to their league record, the defending champ can ill afford sustaining another defeat and realistically hope to retain the title.

"Wayne has an excellent coach and a lot of tradition behind them," Cooper continued. "We have to be ready for this one or suffer the consequences."

Wayne will host the 7 p.m. Thursday meet.

In the meantime, Cooper put together a medley relay team made up of Christy Sikes, Traci Gently, Natalie Schroeder and Melani Merritt that coasted to a 2:10.1 victory. Rachel Snure gave the Tigers the 200-yard freestyle event with a 2:22.16, and teammate Tracie Gentle touched the wall first for the 200-yard individual medley with the winning time of 2:42.61.

Belleville captured the 50-yard freestyle thanks to the

DOUG STREHL OF Westland is playing football this fall for Grand Valley State College. Strehl, who attended John Glenn High School, is a 6-foot, 2-inch, 240-pound freshman. He is playing offensive guard for the junior varsity squad of the Lakers, who have a record this season of 3-2 under coach Tom Beck.

SEVEN GYMNASTS FROM the Palastra gym in Westland recently qualified to compete in the Class III Compulsory State Gymnastics meet. Doug Strehl, Lori Trussler from Westland, Lyndi Paling from Wayne and Kimberly Lewke from Canton qualified in the 11-and-younger age group. Joining them in qualifying in the 12-to-14 age group are Kimberly Rennolds from Plymouth, Christine Prough from Westland, Autumn Bunch from Canton and Dawn Klee from Livonia. The athletes train four days each week with coaches Ruth Ann Webb and Jenny Huff. The Palastra Gymnastics team took first place at the Class III Compulsory State Sectional on Oct. 11. Lyndi Paling received first place on the vault with an 8.5, and Lori Trussler took third place on vault in the children's division. In the junior division, Kimberly Rennolds won the all-around title with the highest score in the meet, a 33.60, while teammate Christine Prough finished second with a 33.55. Kim also received first place on vault and second place on floor exercises. Christine took first place on balance beam. In the senior division, Jill Mikaelian, a ninth-grader from Canton, took a first place on bars, a second place on vault and a third place in the all-around.

Robichaud

That wasn't the case for Robichaud in the third quarter at Willow Run. After scoring a touchdown in each of the first two periods, Robichaud apparently thought the game was over and the Flyers roared back and exploded for three TDs in the third to seal a big 22-18 victory.

"We just stood around (in the third quarter)," Yauck moaned. "I couldn't believe what we were doing out there. We weren't the same team."

Robichaud had blanked three of their former six opponents and had not been scored upon in the last eight quarters. They had extended that streak to 10 before the downfall.

The game got off to a typical Robichaud start as full-back Carl Brown bolted off tackle on the first play from scrimmage in the first quarter and raced 79 yards for a touchdown, giving the Bulldogs a quick 6-0 lead.

Willow Run made some defensive adjustments, cementing their line and, it wasn't until the first play of the second quarter that the Bulldogs struck again. This time it was running back Tyrone Wheatley who found paydirt - a 58-yard TD sprint.

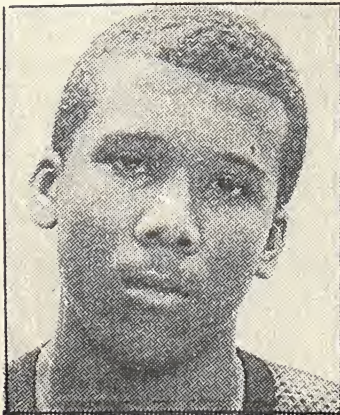

The proverbial roof collapsed on Robichaud in the third quarter as Willow Run quarterback Mike Cummings tested the Bulldog secondary and found some weaknesses. His pinpoint passing led to two touchdowns and, after a Wheatley fumble on the Robichaud five, the Flyers cashed in for their third TD of the afternoon.

"It was the worst defensive performance on our part this season," Yauck said. "It was incredible and unbelievable because these kids had been playing outstanding defense."

"But, I guess you got to expect one bad game in a season. Unfortunately it came at a time that we needed the victory for the championship. Needless to say we can't afford to let Inkster do the same to us."

ROMULUS HIGH SCHOOL PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Turning in a superlative effort against Garden City, running back Ali Campbell scored three touchdowns on runs of 12, 13 and 51 to lead the Romulus Eagles to a thrilling 19-17 victory over the Cougars. The 6-0, 200-pound sophomore finished with 200-yards on 25 carries to earn "Player of the Week" honors.

Leaping to get possession of this rebound is Romulus' Lauri Berlinn who has been the mainstay of the Eagles' assault this season. The Eagles have found their new home, the South Central Conference, hostile as they are yet to win one. ANP photo by Michael Cardew/staff photographer whose four carries netted 42 yards and from Derick Anderson, who picked up 47 yards on eight tries.

Tyrone Stewart pounded a nail in the Cougar coffin when he stepped in front of an errant pass and intercepted in the final two minutes of the game, erasing a final TD threat.

Defensively, the Eagles also outstanding efforts from tackles Ed Miller and Paul Nowicki.

Glover said that he felt his team "would go all right with teams that were compatible in experience."

And he has thus far been proven right.

Eagles still looking for win

Romulus is finding their new home in the South Central Conference quite hostile.

But, despite their fourth consecutive conference basketball loss, Coach Ron Bayes and the Eagles aren't despairing. They see the light at the end of the tunnel.

"Almost everyone will be back a year from now," said Bayes after the Eagles dropped a 62-36 decision to Ypsilanti. "We are taking our lumps now but we are growing from it. And, next year, we will have an experienced crew on hand."

With Barb Coleman tossing in eight of her 14 points in the first period, Ypsi jumped from a 20-8 lead that the Braves never relinquished. Romulus scored in single digits the next two periods and couldn't close the gap despite 6-3 Lori Berlinn's heroics. The Eagles trailed 32-16 at the halfway mark and 49-24 for three periods.

Berlinn scored more than half of her team's points as she made 10 of 12 from the free throw line and wound up with a game-high 24 points. She also swept the boards for 18 rebounds.

Coleman had 14 and Barb Brown finished 18 points for the winners.

Romulus also received an excellent all-around game from Carletta Jackson who contributed eight points and four assists.

Romulus had little luck out of the league as the Cougars of Garden City clipped the Eagles 49-24. Scoring but two points in the second period, the Eagles fell behind 14-2 against Garden City and, after closing the gap, 24-14, at halftime, they never mustered enough offense to overcome the deficit.

Berlinn scored more than half of her team's points as she fired in 17 of the Eagles' 24 and picked off 19 rebounds.

The Eagles went up against Taylor Baptist last night and will resume conference competition on Thursday when they travel to Adrian.

"Adrian is tough," said Bayes. "If we can get some offense from the rest of the lineup to supplement Berlinn's contribution we can stay on the same floor with these teams. One person can do it all."

Jurecki jolts Huron, 19-14

"He was just phenomenal. We couldn't stop him."

That's how New Boston Huron Coach Tom Labeau described Grosse Ile ballcarrier Ray Jurecki after the Islander ran for a record-setting 274 yards in 37 carries that included touchdown runs of 15 and six yards in a 19-14 victory over Huron.

The loss dipped Huron's overall record to 2-5. The Chiefs are 1-5 in the conference.

The Islanders broke a scoreless first half midway in the third quarter when Jurecki scored the first of his two TDs on a 15-yard off tackle run. Mike Brimstock kicked the extra point, turning it into a 7-0 game.

But, after the ensuing kickoff, the Chiefs managed to orchestrate a 60-yard pass-run play that moved them right back into the game. Quarterback Paul Hill fired a pass to Jon Tackett who hauled it in and raced 60 yards for the TD. Then, Tackett came up with the conversion and it was a whole new ballgame.

Not for long.

The Islanders came back with a drive that culminated early in the final period with Jurecki scoring his second touchdown to break the deadlock. Then, Pete Kelly added the final and what proved to be the decisive TD on a nine-yarder.

With two minutes left, Hill crossed the Islander goal line from the eight and Tackett again booted the extra point for the final TD of the game.

Tackett led all of Huron ballcarriers as he picked up 67 yards on 14 tries. He also had two of five pass receptions for an additional 65 yards. Hill ended the evening with 53 yards on 11 carries, and his five pass completions netted 95 yards.

The Chiefs had at least four regulars on the sidelines nursing injuries. They did not suit up for the game.

Huron blew a couple of excellent scoring opportunities. They got to the Islander 10 and saw the TD threat disappear on a fumble.

Huron runs up against improving Monroe Jefferson, a team that has been impressive in their last two outings. Monroe edged Airport last week, 12-6, "and they're coming on strong at the end of the season," noted Labeau.

efforts of Gina Montie who was clocked in 27.83, and diver Polly Drucker again emerged with a win. She piled up 188.25 points.

Jennifer Owsley turned in a 1:13.42 in winning the 100-yard butterfly, and Schroeder came back with a 1:02.50 in claiming the 100-yard freestyle.

Merritt was the winner for the 500-yard freestyle (5:55.75), and Sikes also turned in a 1:14.17 in winning the 100-yard backstroke. For the 100-yard breaststroke, Jennifer Calwell had a 1:23.53.

Player of the Week

Westland John Glenn defensive leader Kurt Kuban has been chosen as "player of the week." The senior linebacker recorded 10 tackles in the Glenn 42-0 victory against Walled Lake Central Friday night. Kuban is a captain for Coach Chuck Gordon and the is the Rockets leading tackler this season.

CAR CARE Guide

OCTOBER 21, 1987

SUPPLEMENT TO ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS, INC.

Get ready

Prepare the car for winter before the elements attack

Motorists who invest 30 minutes now in a simple do-it-yourself preventive car maintenance program can help ensure trouble-free driving all winter, AAA Michigan officials report.

By performing a 12-point "winter winners" checklist, motorists can steer clear of most problems and expensive repairs.

"The checklist is simple to follow for anyone who can drive a car," said Robert Tellier, AAA Michigan Emergency Road Service manager. "The only required items are the car owner's manual, a tire pressure gauge, screwdriver, hydrometer and baking soda."

Last year, more than 6,500 cars were inspected at 21 statewide AAA Car Care Clinics. AAA Michigan representatives discovered that tire pressures and antifreeze levels were the most neglected items.

Tires should be checked regularly, especially in winter when tire pressures drop from the cold. Because tire treads tend to squeeze together and lose traction, owners should maintain the maximum tire pressure recommended on the sidewall of each tire.

Antifreeze levels and strength were deficient on 36 percent of those vehicles checked. A 50/50 mixture of water and antifreeze is recommended in Michigan to ensure protection to 37 degrees below zero.

By understanding and performing the following "winter winners" check, car owners can easily be ready for winter, officials said.

- TIRES - Check pressure with a gauge for correct inflation and inspect tread wear on all tires, including the spare.

- ANTIFREEZE - Use a hydrometer to check the antifreeze strength in the radiator. Antifreeze can be checked in the overflow tanks on some cars.

- MOTOR OIL - Use dipstick to check and add oil when fluid reaches the add mark. Check owner's manual for exact intervals between changes and for oil viscosity. Most suggest SAE5W-30 oil in winter to improve fuel economy and cold-weather performance.

- BRAKE FLUID - Keep the level within a one-quarter inch of the top of the reservoir. Use a screwdriver to pry off the chamber cover clips. New models have a translucent reservoir and can be checked visually.

Remember this scene? Auto officials warn motorists that it will be returning soon, and they also have given a handful of winterization tips to ready the car for the winter months. Special photo to ANP

Not your car -- your car loan!

When you financed your present car, you may have paid as much as 16% interest. With the reduction in interest rates, there's a good chance you now are paying too much for your auto loan. Our current used car loan rate is probably much lower than the rate you're still paying. This means that there may be a lower monthly payment in it for you.

Auto leasing increasing in consumer popularity

Leasing has become the fastest-growing segment of the automobile financial arrangement business, according to officials of the Automotive Information Council.

Historically, two types of leases have been available. A closed-end lease, also called a "walkaway," simply means that you as lessee have no further financial obligation other than making your monthly lease payments. You are not responsible for the value of the car at the end of the lease.

Open-ended leases are less expensive than closed-end leases because the lease-end value of your car is guaranteed by you. At the time of the lease, the company estimates the expected value of the car at the time the lease will expire.

If the car is worth less than the estimated value when you turn it in, you make up the difference in cash, usually up to a figure equaling three monthly payments. If the leasing company should determine that the car is worth more than the estimated value, the company is bound by law to pay you that excess. But they determine the value of the car.

Closed-end leases are expensive because the leasing company takes a calculated gamble that the value of the leased car when you turn it in will be equal to or higher than the value they estimated at the beginning of the lease. Most leases today are closed-ended.

There are two important things to keep in mind when considering leasing:

Leases are ironclad contracts. You can't simply turn your car back to the leasing company if the payments become a strain on your budget or the car suffers severe mechanical failure. Neither problem is the concern of the leasing company, nor do leasing companies or their financing institutions provide specific remedies that would protect you in either situation.

For example, should you decide to turn your car in after one year, the leasing company or the financing institution - not you or anyone of your choosing - decides the wholesale value of the car at that time. The leasing company or financing institution then determines the amount of cash you must pay to them in damages and lost profits.

Lease a lemon and you're stuck. Should you lease a lemon which self-destructs so badly that you can't drive it because you can't even get it fixed, you still must make the payments. You have no legal recourse because you don't own the car. ■

Gift-giving hints

Christmas time will be the perfect time to fill the tool chests of every car owner. Spark plugs, air filters, wax and polish are all appropriate - and seldom thought of - gift ideas for members of the family, friends and co-workers. But, local auto care experts warn, Christmas time is not the time to start thinking about auto care as sub-zero temperatures and the threat of a long winter loom. Special photo to ANP

Did you know?

Auto trivia is fascinating for both the young and old

Here are some famous and no-so-famous firsts in the long and illustrious history of the automobile. Did you know that:

1893 - The first gasoline engine in the U.S. was designed by J. Frank Duryea.

1896 - George H. Morill of Massachusetts was the first American purchaser of a gasoline car.

1896 - First motor vehicle track races at Narragansett Park in Rhode Island. The race was won by Riker Electric Stanhope.

1896 - First accident recorded when a man driving a Duryea Motor Wagon collided with a female bicyclist, breaking her leg.

1899 - Henry Bliss becomes the first traffic fatality in the nation. The driver, Arthur Smith, was arrested and jailed.

1902 - The Motor Mart in New York City buys and sells used cars.

1905 - First reported stolen car occurs in St. Louis.

1908 - Model T Ford introduced on Oct. 1.

1921 - Warren G. Harding was the first U.S. president to ride in an automobile in his inauguration on March

1939 - Packard offered an air conditioning unit.

1947 - Borg-Warner completed the design of three-speed automatic with a torque converter used by Ford and Mercury.

1950 - First seat belts are offered on Nash cars.

1962 - Gas turbine engines were tested for consumer approval by automobile manufacturers.

1965 - Rolls Royce was the first unit constructed car, the Silver Shadow is launched.

1968 - Exhaust emission control systems were standard equipment on 1968 models, which also featured many new safety features including seat belts for all passengers, side marker lights, non-reflective windshields, padded interiors and front seat backs.

1973 - Mazda uses rotary engine with the RX-3.

1978 - First American manufacturer to offer production diesel automobile, as General Motors Oldsmobile Division unveils the 350 CID V-8, the first big economy diesel engine.

1984 - New York becomes the first state to institute a new seat belt law. ■

Few people realize that it was before the turn of the century that automobiles were first introduced in the U.S. and that Henry Ford's car did not appear until 1908. Special photo to ANP

Ensure personal safety with proper jump starts

Nothing frustrates motorists more than discovering a dead or weakened battery. And if you live in or rent a car in a cold-weather climate, this is the time of year to be especially careful.

Officials of the Automotive Information Council suggest that the rules for a safe jump start will lessen that frustration and could prevent harmful injuries.

Jump starting must always be handled carefully because it can be very dangerous if done incorrectly. To lessen the risk of damage to the car electrical system or personal injury, follow these tips.

Be sure the jumper cables and clamps are properly insulated.

Do not smoke or use any flame near the battery.

Always keep your eyes protected when working near any battery.

Use the following procedures for safe jump starting of your vehicle. (AIC officials suggest consulting your owner's manual for instructions on jump starting before you follow this procedure).

1. Position the vehicle with the good booster battery so that the jumper cables will reach from battery to battery, but so the cars do not touch.

2. Turn off the ignition and accessories on both cars and be certain the automatic transmissions are in park (manual transmissions in neutral) and the parking brakes set.

3. Connect a red jumper cable clamp to the positive red terminal on the dead battery. The positive terminal is identifiable by a plus (+) sign or the abbreviation "pos."

4. Connect the other end of the red jumper cable clamp to the positive red terminal on the good booster battery.

5. Connect one black jumper cable clamp to the negative black terminal on the good booster battery. The negative terminal is marked with a minus (-) sign or the abbreviation "neg."

6. Connect the other black battery cable clamp to a solid, stationary metallic point on the engine of the dead battery. This reduces the chance of sparks causing a battery explosion. Keep the cables away from the vehicle fan. This will reduce the possibility of the cables becoming entangled in the fan.

7. Start the engine of the car with the good booster battery and run the engine at a moderate speed. Then start the engine of the vehicle with the dead battery. You may have to wait a few minutes for the dead battery to build up a charge.

8. Remove the jumper cables by reversing the order in which they were connected. The last clamp attached would be the first to be removed. ■

Oil alert

Along with a good battery and recent tuneup, the correct engine oil also can help ensure quick vehicle starts this winter, according to AAA Michigan officials. The three largest U.S. automakers now recommend SAE 5W-30 oil for winter use in most models to improve starting, cold-weather performance and fuel economy. Special photo to ANP

Night driving is easier when observing 5 tips

Fifty-seven percent of all traffic fatalities occur at night - even though the number of miles driven at night is significantly lower than during the day.

These statistics from the United States Department of Transportation have prompted the officials of the Automotive Information Council to offer some suggestions for increasing the safety of night driving.

Step one: Look as far ahead as you can. If you see an object that might present a hazard, assume that it will, and slow down until you are absolutely certain it is not a hazard. Keep your windshield clean.

Step two: Avoid over-driving your headlights. When an object becomes illuminated by your headlights, you should be driving slow enough to stop your car safely without hitting it.

Step three: Make sure other drivers can see you. Keep your taillights, turn signals and brake lights clean and in good, working order. It only takes a moment to walk around the car to check these systems, according to AIC.

Step four: Don't drive tired. Fatigue diminishes responsiveness needed for safe night driving. If you absolutely have to drive tired, AIC officials recommend pulling off the road, where it is safe to do so, and resting several

Added hints save lives

Most accidents, according to officials of the Automotive Information Council, are caused by poor driving, car maintenance and safety habits. A little common sense and courtesy can also go a long way toward making the roadways safe for everyone.

- Obey traffic laws. Avoid speeding, including going too fast for conditions. Observe right-of-way rules. Pass only when in a passing zone; don't pass on the shoulder.

- Drive defensively. Keep a mental list of the cars around you. Leave a "safety zone" around your car.

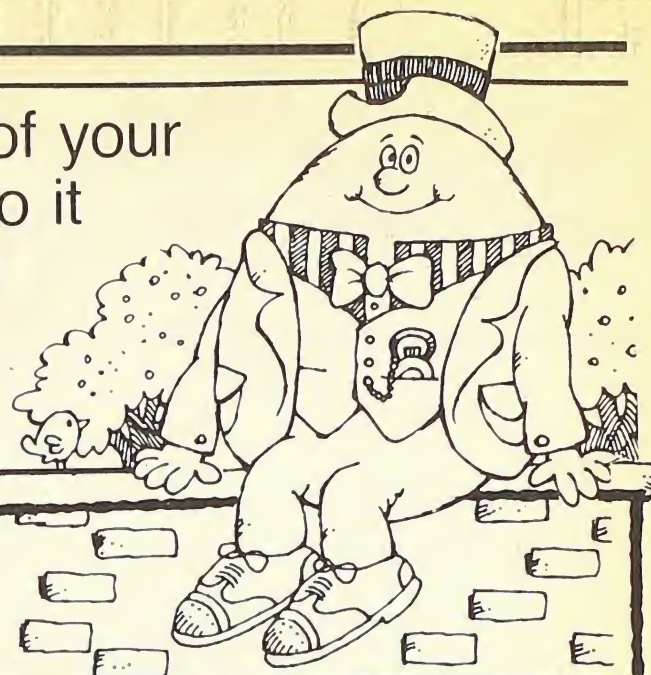

Automotive Information Council officials recommend leaving one car length in front of your car for every 10 mph. Leave four to six feet in front when stopped in traffic or at a light.

- Increase visibility. Turn on headlights at dusk, dawn or anytime visibility is reduced even slightly. Use low beams in fog, snow or rain to reduce glare.

The average American spends more than 20 percent of after-tax income on cars and other forms of transportation. Isn't it worth paying a little more attention to protect that investment and save lives? ■ times during your trip. Remember, it's better to arrive late and safe than not at all. ■

Take care of your car today so it won't fall to pieces tomorrow!

Remember, for top performance, mileage and overall life, it is necessary to keep your oil and filter clean.

It is cheaper to change your oil than your engine!!!
